

FICTION

'Friction' Story

Rewarding Learning

It was winter and the bus was taking longer than usual because the roads were icy. 'Oh no! I'm going to be late!' thought Megan. She ran out of the bus and slipped.

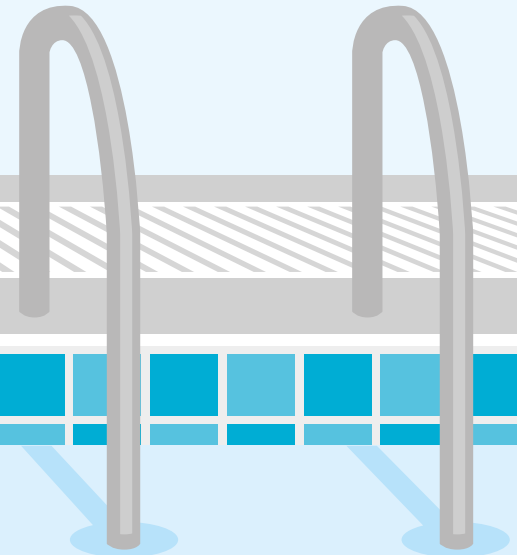

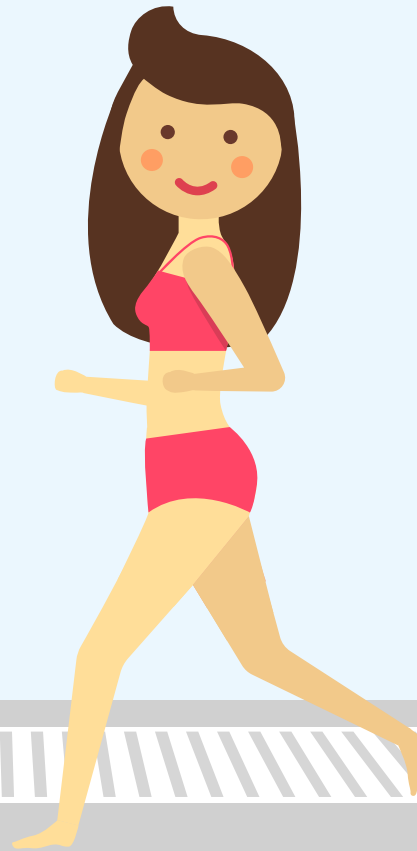

When Megan arrived at school, her trainers were soaking wet. 'Oh no,' she thought, 'I'm going to need these for basketball!'

Megan kept slipping when she tried to run during PE.
'Can I borrow a pair of trainers please?' asked Megan.

That was much easier. Now Megan had lots of grip during the basketball match.

After lunch, it was time for Megan's favourite activity, swimming. She was so excited that she ran from the changing rooms to the pool. 'Stop running!' shouted the lifeguard.

It was time to go home and the ice had melted. Megan ran into her house. 'Stop Megan! Remember to wipe your feet before you...!' Oh dear! Too late.